

We're getting married!

Prerana & Prasiddh

We met in college and became best friends first, because apparently we like to do things the long way. For three years, we laughed, studied and built a friendship that neither of us realized was quietly turning into something more. Somewhere between endless conversations and movie nights, we recognized our favorite place was simply together.

That friendship became the foundation for the best years of our lives. It carried us through cross-country moves, countless movie nights and our unofficial role as restaurant critics; each day was anything but ordinary. We learned that the joy was never just in what we were doing, but in doing it together. This was the life we wanted to keep choosing.

Now it feels like the story we began years ago is ready to keep unfolding. Rooted in respect, trust and love, it's a story that feels both familiar and new. We're excited to continue it together, one page at a time.

Dress Code

We can't wait to celebrate with you!

Each event has its own vibe, feel free to have fun with your outfits while keeping the following guidelines in mind:

Mehendi

Bright colors are highly encouraged! Think fun, festive and expressive, multi-color and patterned outfits are welcome. The vibe is dressy-casual, joyful and relaxed.

Haldi & Mamera

Let's keep it playful and vibrant with bright, cheerful colors. Please avoid wearing white and royal blue.

Sangeet

Dress like the gems you are! We'd love to see you in any gemstone inspired colors: ruby, sapphire, amethyst, topaz and more. Please avoid emerald green.

Muhurat

Traditional attire in bright, celebratory colors is encouraged. Please avoid white and red.
